

Lunch

Next up, lunch—don't just snack at your makeshift desk all day long. Try to take the time to have a sit-down meal. Even if it's takeout—and even if it's fast food!—you can create an elegant setting by pulling out the good china and linens. There's no time like the present to use them.

- A natural linen place mat is always a good base for any tablesetting.
- Coordinate your glassware to your china pattern by accenting from a color within.
- Silver-hammered flatware adds not only some texture to the setting but also some shine.
- Napkins are the best way to add pattern and color. The more colorful prints in the mix, the better!
- You should have high and low in your setting. Presenting your meal on a silver tray brings elegance to the table.
- Your accoutrements should not be left out on their own—even if they're in plastic packets. Try putting them in a small serving bowl, in a ramekin, or on a small bread plate.

LUNCH À LA DRIVE-THROUGH

Parentesi Oval Placemat

thepinkdaisy.com
$27.95

SHOP NOW

Oriente Italiano dinner plate

kneenandco.com
$125.00

SHOP NOW

Avalon Goblets

Mikasa
amazon.com
$36.87

SHOP NOW

Sinclair Flatware place setting

williams-sonoma.com
$63.96

SHOP NOW

Riyad Napkins

marigoldliving.com
$28.00

SHOP NOW

Silverplated Rectangular Footed Tray

scully
scullyvandscully.com

Navy Blue Ramekins

Sweese
amazon.com
$17.99