THUMBNAIL VIEW

While we'd love to decorate our home only from items we personally sourced from artisans around the world.. well, that just isn't happening. But we can take a mini-vacation by pretending to travel by window browsing these shops virtually. Each of these ten shops has a carefully curated selection of artisan made goods from around the world - India, Rwanda, Ghana, Cambodia, Guatamela, the United States, and more! And each is committed to bringing these handcrafted goods to you ethically, benefiting both your home and the people whose talents created it.

See our favorite places to shop for treasures from around the world in the slideshow!

Marigold Living offers fine handcrafted Indian bedding, table linens, curtains, pillow covers, and scarves, made by skilled artisans in India and brought directly to consumers in the US. Blending heritage Indian design with contemporary style, their all-natural textiles are made in small batches using generations-old techniques of hand weaving, wood block printing, applique, embroidery and more. Marigold Living aspires to sustain the livelihoods and deep-rooted pride of the artisan communities across the region, while offering consumers a connection to the timeless beauty of Indian textiles.
